2. Activities

With the beginning of the summer period, June was a quieter month compared to the previous ones, with fewer events and activities taking place. In addition to participating in the regular committee meetings and other routine consultations, the most significant task during the month was supporting the doctoral admission process. Representatives of the Doctoral Students' Union served as student members of the doctoral admission committees. As President of the Doctoral Students' Union, I was responsible for coordinating the student representatives and organizing their assignments. I am pleased to report that we successfully appointed a student representative to every admission committee, ensuring that doctoral students were represented throughout the entire admission process. The table below shows which student representatives participated in each admission interview.

In addition, preparations began this month for the upcoming transition in the leadership of the Doctoral Students' Union. As I will complete my doctoral studies (absolutorium) in August, I will soon step down from my position as President. Therefore, throughout June I focused on organizing the succession process and preparing for a smooth transfer of responsibilities.

Finally, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all members of the Doctoral Students' Union for their dedication, cooperation, and hard work over the past period. It has been a privilege to work alongside you, and I am confident that you will continue to represent the interests of doctoral students with the same commitment in the future.
